FIRED UPON BY TEXANS.

Some of Captain Payne's Followers Rout the Boomers.

FOOT RENO, I. T., April 21.—[Special]—A

settler named Goodwin arrived at Reno yesterday from Oklahoma, and made a sworn statement to the post commander that his party of four had been fired upon by a party of twelve Texans, who claimed the location made by Goodwin and party. The Texans claimed the land, having located there with Captain Payne several years previous. Goodwin made his escape and hid in the thick brush along the river until after dark, when he made his way towards Reno. The rest of his party were killed. A detachment of company C 13th infantry were quickly sent to the scene to recover the bodies and make full investigation and arrest all suspicious persons in the vicinity.

KILLED AT THE CROSSING.

WILMING, Del., April 23.—While crossing the Philadelphia, Wilmington and Baltimore railroad at Newport, this afternoon, John Wade, aged sixty-two years, his wife, Matilda, aged fifty-nine years, and James M. Linder, aged forty years, were all killed when being struck by the northbound express train which passes at 2:19 o'clock. Wade and his wife lived on a farm at Appleton, Cecil county, Maryland, and were on their way home after having attended market.

The Rough Element Establishing Dance
Houses and Saloons—How Some Speculators Were Surprised.

CHICAGO, April 23.—The Daily News has a special from Diamond Bar ranch. It says: The occupation of the Cherokee strip has begun along the whole line. A much harder nut to crack than was any of the Oklahoma booms is now presented to the government.

The Cherokee strip, which is now in the process of being gobbled, comprises nearly eight million acres, being thus nearly four times as large as Oklahoma, and it far transcends the latter in beauty and fertility. Excitement in Arkansas City over the prospective.

Boomers Returning to the State Disgusted
With Oklahoma.

ST. LOUIS, April 24.—A Republic special from Kansas City, Mo., says: Butlers in front of the telegraph office at the union depot this morning indicated that the early morning train to the west had been delayed over two hours. The cause of the delay was apparent when a train of fourteen coaches crowded with returning boomers, came in. A more disgusted crowd could not be imagined. They were mostly originally from Iowa, Nebraska and Illinois.

"I went to Leadville," said one, "to make a fortune, and came back disappointed, but I knew then that I had to run my chances. I really thought there was something in this Oklahoma."

They staked off a town site but were overruled. Six people of Arkansas City went out on the strip, yesterday and staked out a town site on the Chillicothe Indian school reservation, and were ordered off by the superintendent. They moved their stakes to a neighboring spot off the school land, there to remain as the forerunner of the horde of invaders to come.

DISAPPOINTED SPECTATORS.

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 24.—Oklahoma City, like Guthrie, was built in a day; or, properly speaking, was claimed in an hour, excepting that portion which was captured before the time by those appointed to go down and execute the law. A deputy United States marshal laid out the town Sunday night and Monday morning. They covered the supposed choice site with tents.

When a train from south arrived about 1 o'clock, consisting of twenty-three cars containing about 2,000 people, about 700 had been at work.

They were on the first train that arrived at Guthrie on Monday afternoon. We were not told for town sites, but farm lands. We found pretty fair lands in the river bottoms, but not near as good as the farms that we were leaving.

and they have grown rapidly in numbers with each incoming train. They come from all parts of the west and southwest. Among them all there has been no equal to the Dodge City crowd, which made itself famous in the when Dodge City was at the end of "Little Trail," and was considered the worst town on the earth. Since the trail left Dodge City some of them have been following it and others have been in. The crowd which is in Guthrie was in Purcell before the territory was opened, and went up to Guthrie for the purpose of running a dance house and gambling den, and making what they could out of the success of their business, and yesterday they began efforts to drive somebody off. They were unfortunate in the selecting of their victim. They made a claim to a lot owned by the United States Internal revenue collector for the Oklahoma district, and who is a bad man to impose upon. Rogers resisted, and the roughs let him alone.

MEDICAL.

A Fact

WORTH knowing is that blood diseases which all other remedies fail to cure, yield to Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Fresh confirmation of this statement comes to hand daily. Even such deep-seated and stubborn complaints as Rheumatism, Rheumatic Gout, and the like, are thoroughly eradicated by the use of this wonderful alterative.

Mrs. E. Irving Dodge, 110 West Street, New York, certifies:—

"About two years ago, after suffering for nearly two years from rheumatic gout, being able to walk only with great discomfort, and having tried various remedies, I called in several doctors, with whom I saw by an advertisement in a Chicago paper that a man had been relieved of this distressing complaint, after long suffering, by taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I then decided to make a trial of this medicine, and took it for a few months. I am pleased to say that it effected a complete cure, and that I have since had no return of the disease."

Mrs. L. A. Stark, Nashua, N. H., writes:— "One year ago I was taken ill with rheumatism, being confined to my bed six months. I came out of the sickness very much debilitated, with no appetite, and my system disordered in every way. I commenced to use Ayer's Sarsaparilla and began to improve at once, gaining in strength and soon recovering my usual health. I cannot say too much in praise of this well-known medicine."

"I have taken a great deal of medicine, but nothing has done me so much good as Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I took it for a month, and have but just quite finished one bottle, and I can truly testify that it is the best blood-medicine I know of."—L. W. Ward, Sr., Woodland, Texas.

ATLANTA, GA., APRIL 25, 1889.

The dead Firemen and the People.
"Killed at their post of duty!" That is the epitaph of the two firemen who were crushed under the falling walls of Jackson's building on yesterday.

There is no better epitaph than that! It is that which has made immortal the example of the sentinel at Herculanum, though even his home was never known! "Died at the post of duty!"

The people of Atlanta owe them gratitude and loving remembrance! But do we not owe them more? A fireman is more than a public officer. He is a guard over our lives and property—a sentinel that watches and waits—the forlorn hope that must rush into the jaws of flame and death for our sakes. These men were good firemen. They were devoted and brave and loyal. They died while working under the orders of their chief in the pursuit of their saving and protecting work. They have families that are poor and dependent. For each of them four children, now fatherless, are weeping in a humble home! For each of them a young wife, now widowed, lay open-eyed and broken-hearted through the long and maddening watches of the night!

Do we not owe something to the families of these men? Should we not by a popular subscription, at least give to their stricken and helpless widows the consoling and helping testimony of our sympathy and gratitude.

THE CONSTITUTION will be glad to acknowledge any contributions for this purpose and to see that they are promptly turned over to Chief Joyner that they may be applied to the relief of the families of the dead firemen.

The Negroes in the South.

We print elsewhere a letter from a colored man in regard to the position the negroes occupy in the north and in the south. It is a very well-written letter, and the writer thereof seems to have come to a clear understanding of the lack of sympathy that exists and must exist between the northern people and the negroes.

Our correspondent appears to be very indignant because President Harrison has not made haste to appoint negroes to office, and also makes some remarks about an editorial in Zion's Herald. This is a very old story.

The negro is not appreciated outside of the south, and he can only be appreciated by the southern people. Right here is the problem that the newspapers are dealing with. Shall the negro be left to be dealt with by the sympathetic south, or shall the unsympathetic north come in and drive these two to enmity?

In the editorial rooms of THE CONSTITUTION, not many days ago, a curious scene was enacted. A negro gray, but still vigorous, came up inquiring for his young master. He found him presently, and there were tears in the eyes of both when the meeting took place. From the negro there was a "God bless you, master; I love you same as ever!" and from the other, "Uncle Reese, I never have forgotten you!" There was positively nothing that the old negro could not have demanded from the young man he called his master, but all he asked was a street car ticket to go out and see the young man's mother. He was merely a visitor, but old associations made his visit a happy one. Little children whom he had never seen clung around his knees, and when he went away they trod behind him up the street and flung kisses after him, and, at the last, he took off his hat, fished in it for his handkerchief, and went away weeping. What more could be asked?

A Champion of Education.

In an interview with Hon. Martin V. Calvin, published in the Augusta Chronicle, Chancellor Boggs, of the State University, takes the position that the rental of the state road ought to be devoted to the cause of education. He thinks that of the $300,000 received from this source, $200,000 should be devoted to the common school system of the state and the remaining $100,000 should be given to the university proper at Athens and the branch colleges. In his opinion, this would be a grand investment for the state, and the returns from it would be a source of wonderful profit.

The Augusta Chronicle, commenting on the suggestion, says:

This is something like the literary fund of Virginia, which Jefferson secured for elementary and higher education. The hundred thousand apportioned to the university will go to the support of the university proper at Athens, the branch colleges, including the schools of technology and medicine. We believe that the people can be brought to see the fact that no better use of the state's money can be made. As Dr. Boggs says, the latent resources of the young intellect of the state are the best fields for state development, for these stimulate and further all other. What nobler return can be made in any other quarter?

All this has the full endorsement of THE CONSTITUTION, and we believe that the people of this state realize the necessity of a better supported system of education, and are ready to take the step proposed by Dr. Boggs. This able gentleman has proven himself a gallant champion of the cause of education, and his efforts in behalf of the establishment of a system of which the state will be proud are already being rewarded with encouraging results.

Every element of strength added to the university correspondingly increases the demands for a better system of common school education, and as the university grows, common schools are proportionately extended and their benefits become proportionately greater.

Education strengthens itself from the top. This has been demonstrated the world over. Cambridge and Oxford have probably done more in behalf of general knowledge in England than anything else in the educational system of the empire, in the direct results growing out of the demand inspired by them for a thorough system of education of which they have been the capstones.

It is so in this country, and our people should lose no time in giving Georgia a university which shall equal in every respect the best in the land, and we believe that the people are determined to do this very thing.

Boulanger in London.

General Boulanger has acted with commendable prudence in removing his headquarters to London.

The exile now feels secure. He no longer dreads assassination or kidnapping. The British government will stand by the precedents already established. It will shelter the refugee, protect him, and enable him to devise plots and conspiracies without the slightest danger of interference.

It is quite likely that the general has the career of Louis Napoleon in his mind. That daring adventurer found safety in London when he was in trouble. He gathered about him a congenial circle. The English treated him handsomely, and allowed him to be sworn as a special policeman during the Chartist riots. When he had matured his plans he made his descent upon France. It is true that his expedition was a failure, and resulted in his imprisonment, but his success came later.

Of course Boulanger is thinking of this. In London he can be advised in a few hours of everything that is going on in Paris. He can carry on a political campaign, and communicate with his followers without the slightest difficulty.

Even if the worst comes and Boulanger finds that France has irreversibly cast him off, London is not a bad place for him. He will find life more enjoyable in the British metropolis than in Brussels.

But it is too early to guess at this man's fate. He may turn out to be a conqueror, or only a clown.

SUNSET Cox has already made arrangements to deliver a Fourth-of-July address. It will thus be seen that Christmas is almost here.

The Courier-Journal appears to be somewhat at disturbed because T. R. CONSTITUTION remarked that Robert P. Porter would make a fine republican superintendent of the census. The Courier-Journal is hard to please.

SOME of the Oklahoma boomers will have a great deal of trouble in getting back to their homes; and many of them will never get back.

The colored brother is not getting many offices. It is a habit he has not to get offices.

GENERAL BOULANGER ought to hire a special car.

MR. WANAMAKER doesn't want postmasters to keep a saloon. This is because Mr. Wanamaker has no wet goods for sale.

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

A LIST of Boston's wealthiest tax payers, five years ago has been compared with a tax list of the present year. The comparison shows that wealth remains in families where it once accumulated in large amounts. There are some exceptions, but for the past fifty years the wealth Boston families have been increasing at a very slow rate. Boston is doubtless one of any city's community, and the old idea that the fortunes of the rich are squandered by their children and grandchildren must be given up. The descendants of wealthy ancestors may deteriorate in every other respect, but when it comes to money sense they will hold their own.

BOULANGER SAYS that he left France to escape the fate of the Duke D'Enghien. Well, the duke was shot. Does Boulanger expect to run his military career to the end without facing bullets?

LIGHTNING IS TERRIBLY fatal and destructive in this country. The other day ten persons were sitting around a dinner table at No. 11, Brown's house at Pond Ridge, New York, when a thunder storm came up. A bolt of lightning ran down the chimney, wrecked the dining-room and struck everybody senseless. An eighteen-year-old boy was the only survivor. He found his room on fire, and his first work was to put out flames. When this was done assistance was called in. Two of the inmates of the house were dead. The others, though badly injured, recovered.

DR. A. H. LINDLEY UNDER ARREST
ON A SERIOUS CHARGE.

THREE NUMBER NINES.

DR. A. H. LINDLEY UNDER ARREST
ON A SERIOUS CHARGE.

Stock Certificates in the Farmers' Improvement and Savings Association Hypothecated and Money Advanced by Various Banks, and President Adair Pronounces a Two of These Forgeries.

Dr. A. H. Lindley, of Hapeville, is under arrest in charge of a constable at the Markham house.

He is charged with forgery.

Tuesday afternoon Messrs. Maddox & Rucker, the bankers, took Dr. Lindley into custody, but they kept the matter very quiet, hoping to effect a settlement.

They were unable to do this, and late in the evening they had him placed under arrest, the charge being that he was being committed a forgery with intent to defraud.

The trial was set for 10 o'clock yesterday

before Justice King, but was postponed till today in order to give the defendant time to pay his expenses.

STORY OF THE CASE.

The story of the case is a queer one.

On February 27 Dr. Lindley went to Maddox and Rucker and hypothesized a certificate of the Farmers' Improvement and Savings Association, which he had obtained a loan of $300 on sixty days' time.

The certificate was shown Mr. A. D. Adair, president of the association, who pronounced it genuine without making a close examination.

The reason for that was that Dr. Lindley was secretary of the association, and Mr.

Adair knew that he held fifty shares of the stock.

IT WAS NUMBER NINE.

The certificate was marked No. 9.

That was the thing that led to the development of the sensation.

A few days ago Mr. Adair was talking with Mr. A. E. Thornton, of the Neal Loan and Banking Company, and found that

Dr. Lindley had also hypothesized forty shares with that bank obtaining $300,

on April 15.

"No. 9" appeared on this certificate.

Mr. Adair looked at it closely and saw that it was not signed by Dr. Lindley and Maddox &

Rucker took another look at the certificate held by them, and pronounced the signature on that a forgery. The A's were just like Mr.

Adair's own handwriting, but the B's were not,

and the "No. 9" was on both.

Mr. Adair was but one stub marked "No. 9," and this showed that it had been issued to Dr. Lindley, and was the only one that had been issued to him.

There was only one stub amiss in the book,

and that was No. 1, which Dr. Lindley explained by saying that he had taken out a stub shares for a man who had decided afterwards to take more, and that he had just transferred it to another certificate and had that strip out.

THE LEAD TO DR. LINDLEY'S ARREST, and the case looks very ugly just now.

DR. LINDLEY'S RECORD.

Dr. A. H. Lindley came to Atlanta several years ago, and is a man of very gentlemanly address and businesslike manners, he soon got a number of business interested in the Piedmont Land and Improvement Association, of both of which he was elected secretary.

He resigned his position in each, and last year he was a member of the Atlanta Land and Improvement Association, and Dr. Adair, president, and Dr. Lindley, secretary. It was organized on the same plan, as a building and loan association, five per cent paid in and the remainder to be paid at the rate of one per cent per month.

Dr. Lindley's share was taken. An effort was made to get two northern capitalists interested, and Dr. Lindley claims to have secured $10,000 from them, but it was never paid in,
in because of some distrust on their part.
Things did not work smoothly, and, not liking Dr. Lindley's methods, he was asked to resign, which he did about a month ago.

It was found that he was behind with the association $700 or $800, but he claims an offset that he had given five per cent per month on the $10,000 monthly interest.

As his salary was a contingent one, being twenty-five cents for each share subscribed, this was not pushed. When he presented the certificate to the three local banks, he was told that it was a forgery.

He was asked to pay back the loan and that it was fully sufficient to cover the loan.

The proposition was fair enough to satisfy any Atlanta business man, and the bankers never, for an instant, doubted the genuineness of the "No. 9" license given to Dr. Lindley.

Mr. Thornton, in inquiring the question of the genuineness of the Piedmont shares, but it is supposed by others that they are all right.

DR. LINDLEY'S DECLINES TO TALK.

Dr. Lindley was seen yesterday and declined to talk about the case.

He was in a good humor and expressed his content as to await the decision of the courts. He said that it was simply a difference of opinion between him and Maddox & Rucker, who swore out the warrant for his arrest.

He said that they had doubtless done what they thought was for their best interests, and he had no complaint to make.

He had been paid five cents on the dollar, and that would continue to be so long as he was able to raise a hand.

As to the charge of forgery he had nothing to say, and proposed to leave the matter with his attorney, Mr. L. G. Rosser.

Mr. Adair says that Dr. Lindley was in charge of the seal and the books, blank and other things, and it was an easy matter for him to do as he chose in the conducting of the association. Mr. Adair had signed out of the certificates in blank, but not many of them.

The case is likely to prove a very interesting one before it is through with, and Dr. Lindley appears to be perfectly cool and comfortable.

The Neal Loan and Banking company has about secured itself from loss,

but the other two have lost to loss. Dr. Lindley arranges a settlement with them.

The note at Maddox & Rucker's is due Saturday,

and the one at the Atlanta National on June 17.

Whether there are any more certificates out is not known.
